

Precision. Purity. Performance.

THE DIRECTION

Build from the identity already established on The Source website: warm ivory, gold, dark brown ink, classical typography, generous space, and restrained luxury.

ORIGINAL MARK / CURRENT ASSET

BRAND FOUNDATION

Preserve the house. Make it easier to use.

EXISTING BRAND LINE

"Precision. Purity. Performance."

The website can improve clarity without replacing the identity Casey already built.

Refined

ivory and gold

Classical

Cinzel and Cormorant

Discreet

quiet spacing

Precise

thin rules and labels

Established

not reimagined

LOGO SYSTEM

Use the house mark consistently.

The gold TS monogram is the primary asset used on the current site and packaging. Pair it with the Cinzel wordmark treatment already visible in the navigation. Use monochrome versions only when production or contrast requires them.

PRIMARY ASSET / ORIGINAL GOLD

T
S

SINGLE-COLOR TREATMENT / INK

T
S

THE SOURCE

PRECISION. PURITY. PERFORMANCE.

REVERSED LOCKUP / DARK FIELD

THE SOURCE

PRECISION. PURITY. PERFORMANCE.

CURRENT SITE WORDMARK TREATMENT / CINZEL

Keep clear space around the monogram equal to the width of its central stem. Do not redraw, stretch, crop, or replace the mark. The current site uses restrained metallic gradients for selected buttons and gold details. Keep those effects subtle and inside the existing gold range.

COLOR SYSTEM

The live ivory, ink, and gold palette.

IVORY #FDFCF8 Primary page background	CREAM #F8F4EC Warm panels and quiet contrast
WHITE #FFFFFF Cards and product fields	INK #191307 Primary type and navigation
SOFT INK	GOLD

#5D5545

Secondary copy

#BE9E56

Primary brand accent

DEEP GOLD

#8A6D3B

Links, rules, and depth

GOLD LIGHT

#E6D3A3

Highlights and gradient midpoint

Ivory is the default field.

Build most pages from Ivory, White, Ink, and Soft Ink. Cream creates quiet separation without introducing a new hue.

Gold carries the identity.

Use Gold and Deep Gold for the monogram, hairline rules, icons, labels, and selected actions. Gold should punctuate the page, not flood it.

TYPOGRAPHY

The current three-typeface system.

DISPLAY / CORMORANT GARAMOND

The Source.

Use Cormorant Garamond for hero statements, section headlines, quotations, and editorial moments. Regular and italic carry the luxury tone already present on the site.

BODY / JOST

Research compounds presented with clear identity, current batch documentation, precise handling information, and direct support.

Use light and regular weights for body copy. Use medium for controls. Preserve comfortable line height.

BRAND LABELS / CINZEL

LOT 26A-041

TESTED 18 AUG 2026

ASSAY VERIFIED

CERTIFICATE AVAILABLE

Use Cinzel for the wordmark, navigation moments, Roman numerals, labels, and short uppercase statements. Keep the tracking wide.

Borrow structure. Keep The Source identity.

These screenshots are composition references, not visual identities to copy. Use their strongest layout and commerce patterns with Casey's existing monogram, ivory and gold palette, Cinzel, Cormorant Garamond, Jost, photography, and house language.

Let one image carry the opening.

Borrow the full-width editorial hero and disciplined text placement.

Borrow the clear split between utility links, primary navigation, and campaign content.

Borrow the restrained outlined action and quiet carousel controls.

Do not copy Aesop's palette, logo, type, product language, or exact creative.

VIEW SOURCE SITE

IMMORTALS / COLLECTION CLARITY

Explain the category before the grid.

Borrow the collection introduction, one primary action, and immediate product preview.

Borrow the clear card hierarchy, category labels, and visible product imagery.

Borrow the guided-selection concept only when its questions fit the approved research-use model.

Do not copy the blue palette, rounded capsule language, health claims, or recommendation copy.

VIEW SOURCE SITE

RHODE / CAMPAIGN FRAMING

Use generous framing and very little chrome.

Borrow the large campaign module, centered brand presence, and clean edge spacing.

Borrow the minimal commerce navigation and single-action hero treatment.

Borrow the rhythm of large imagery followed by compact product modules.

Do not copy Rhode's colors, rounded containers, logo, celebrity imagery, or product styling.

VIEW SOURCE SITE

Carry the house identity into the certificate experience.

This is a website component, not a new identity. It uses Casey's existing ivory, ink, gold, Cinzel, and Jost system to make batch information easier to scan.

Use it on product pages and certificate results. It never displays invented data. Missing facts say "unavailable."

THE SOURCE / VERIFIED MATERIAL

TS-01

Compound	[verified name]
----------	-----------------

Lot	[lot ID]
-----	----------

Tested	[verified date]
--------	-----------------

Assay	Unavailable
-------	-------------

Certificate	[document link]
-------------	-----------------

Storage	[approved language]
---------	---------------------

Evidence should be easier to find than persuasion.

THE SOURCE

CATALOG CERTIFICATES CART

Research materials. Every batch accounted for.

Clear identity, current documentation, and direct research support.

Homepage hero

State category, audience, and proof in the first screen.

T$

AVAILABLE / DOCUMENTED

[Compound name]

[quantity] [price]

Product card

Keep amount, price, lot status, and certificate access visible.

CERTIFICATE LOOKUP

LOT [ID]

STATUS DOCUMENTED

TESTED [DATE]

DOCUMENT VIEW PDF

Certificate view

Never hide the document beneath marketing or an accordion.

Keep the house language, then make it concrete.

Write this

Use "The Collection," "The Standard," "The Foundations," and "Atelier" as established brand language.

Pair atmosphere with facts such as "Certificate updated August 18, 2026."

Keep "Precision. Purity. Performance." as the primary brand line.

Use Casey's name and credentials only when the source material verifies them.

Avoid this

New slogans that compete with the current tagline.

New colors, trendy typefaces, or a clinical-blue redesign.

Dense luxury language where a product fact is needed.

Benefit claims, outcomes, testing data, and credentials that are not verified.

Copy this prompt into the site build.

Design and build a responsive ecommerce website for The Source, founded by Casey Christopher. Treat <https://thesource.gold/> as the visual source of truth. Preserve the existing identity. Do not replace it with a new palette, new logo, or trend-driven redesign.

BRAND FOUNDATION

The existing brand line is "Precision. Purity. Performance." The brand feels private, refined, classical, and precise. Keep the established house vocabulary, including "The Collection," "The Standard," "The Foundations," and "Atelier." Improve clarity and usability while making the finished site unmistakably The Source.

REFERENCE SITES AND WHAT TO BORROW

Use Aesop at <https://www.aesop.com/> for editorial hierarchy: a full-width image-led hero, disciplined overlaid navigation, a clear utility layer, restrained outlined actions, and quiet carousel controls.

Use the Immortals peptide collection at <https://immortals.com/collections/peptides> for commerce structure: explain the category before showing products, use a strong collection introduction, make product-card hierarchy obvious, and keep guided selection close to the catalog.

Use Rhode at <https://www.rhodeskin.com/> for campaign framing: generous outer gutters, a large image-led campaign module, centered brand presence, minimal commerce navigation, and a clean transition into product modules.

Borrow only layout logic, spacing, hierarchy, and component behavior. Do not copy any reference site's logo, colors, typography, imagery, wording, health claims, corner-radius system, or distinctive branded artwork. Every borrowed pattern must be reskinned with The Source identity below.

LOGO

Use the existing gold TS monogram as the primary mark. Pair it with THE SOURCE set in Cinzel where the wordmark is needed. Preserve the mark's proportions and clear space. Do not redraw, crop, stretch, simplify, or replace it. Use the gold original on ivory and white fields. Use one-color ink or reversed white versions only where contrast or production requires them.

EXACT COLOR PALETTE

Use the current production tokens from the live site:

Ivory #FDFCF8 for the primary page background.

Cream #F8F4EC for warm panels and quiet section contrast.

White #FFFFFF for cards and clean product fields.

Ink #191307 for primary type, navigation, and icons.

Soft Ink #5D5545 for secondary copy.

Gold #BE9E56 for the monogram, key rules, labels, and selected accents.

Deep Gold #8A6D3B for links, borders, and darker gold details.

Gold Light #E6D3A3 for highlights and the midpoint of restrained metallic treatments.

Noir #120D07 and Noir Soft #1E1710 may be used for limited dark sections.

Do not introduce blue, oxblood, cool gray, or another competing accent color.

GOLD TREATMENT

The live site uses a restrained metallic gradient for selected actions. When needed, use linear-gradient(105deg, #6B5329 0%, #8A6D3B 35%, #E6D3A3 50%, #8A6D3B 65%, #6B5329 100%). Keep it limited to high-value details and buttons. Do not cover large page areas with metallic effects.

TYPOGRAPHY

Use Cinzel for the wordmark, navigation moments, Roman numerals, labels, and short uppercase statements. Use Cormorant Garamond for hero statements, section headlines, quotations, and editorial moments. Use Jost for body copy, product information, forms, buttons, and utility text. Preserve the live site's wide tracking, light body weights, generous line height, and centered ceremonial moments. Keep longer informational copy left aligned for readability.

LAYOUT AND DETAIL

Use generous ivory negative space, thin gold hairline rules, small gold ornaments, centered display moments, and large editorial product photography. Buttons can use gold borders or the approved gold gradient. Corners should remain square or nearly square. Avoid rounded SaaS cards, glassmorphism, neon accents, heavy shadows, clinical blue, and generic dashboard styling.

PHOTOGRAPHY

Follow the current art direction: warm ivory and cream surfaces, white packaging, gold hardware, soft natural light, controlled shadows, and tactile materials. Product imagery should feel quiet and premium. Avoid generic laboratory stock, blue DNA imagery, lifestyle outcomes, smoke, or unrelated marble-and-gold luxury clichés.

INFORMATION DESIGN

Make product and certificate information easier to find without changing the brand. A reusable certificate panel may show compound name, lot ID, tested date, verified assay result, certificate link, and approved storage language. Style it with Ivory, Ink, Gold, Cinzel, and Jost so it belongs to the current identity. Use only verified data. Show "Unavailable" when information is missing. Never invent a realistic placeholder.

HOME PAGE

Preserve the established navigation and house structure where practical. The first screen should use the existing identity and clearly state what The Source offers, who it is for, and what proof is available. Include The Collection, The Foundations, The Standard, Atelier, certificate access, research support, and Casey's sourced founder story. Keep the experience elegant, but do not make visitors decode the offer.

PRODUCT PAGE

Keep the product name, amount, price, availability, current lot, and certificate access easy to find. Include approved specifications, handling information, testing method, laboratory identity, verified date, shipping, and support. Do not hide the certificate beneath promotional content.

MOTION AND RESPONSIVE BEHAVIOR

Use slow, restrained movement for hero imagery and small fades for editorial moments. Keep commerce interactions quick. Respect reduced-motion settings. On mobile, keep search, cart, product status, and certificate access within easy reach. Use 44px minimum tap targets and maintain WCAG AA contrast.

COPY AND FACTS

Keep "Precision. Purity. Performance." as the primary brand line. Use the existing house vocabulary, then support it with direct facts. Do not invent claims, outcomes, credentials, laboratory relationships, test results, testimonials, service levels, or product details.

LEGAL BOUNDARY

Do not write dosing guidance, personal protocols, symptom questions, body-outcome promises, or unapproved benefit-led categories. Product intent and research-use language require specialized legal review. A footer disclaimer does not correct contradictory merchandising or page copy.

DELIVERABLE

Produce accessible desktop and mobile designs for the homepage, collection, product detail, certificate lookup, The Standard, The Foundations, Atelier, about, support, cart, and legal templates. Include loading, empty, sold-out, unavailable-certificate, and validation-error states. The result should look like a more usable and complete version of Casey's current site, not a different brand.